The President Sends in the Correspondence

WASHINGTON, December 5 .- The president today transmitted to the house the correspondence growing out of the killing of General Barrundia by growing out of the killing of General Barrundia by Guatemalan officers on board the Pacific Mail steamer "Acapulce," in the port of San Jose de Gaatemala. The correspondence was called for by a resolution of September 24th, last. 'Secretary Blaine, in his letter, laying the correspondence before the president, says it will be observed that the last report of Minister Minner contains matter essential to a full and accurate understanding of the case, and was dated September 23d, and not received at the department until October 9th, several days after the adjournment of congress. The correspondence consists of ten enclosures, the first of which was a telegram from Minister Minner to Mr. Blaine dated August 28th, and the last letter from Mr. Blaine to Minner, dated November 18th, announcing that he can see no justification for Minner's course; that this government disavows his action and directing him to turd over the affairs of the legation to Mr. Kimberly's charge and to return to the United States.

In Minner's first letter to Mr. Blaine, dated August 28th, he quotes the communication to Captain Pitts, dated the 29th, stating that Guatemala, like any other nation, has the right to arrest a person on a neutral ship in its own waters, in time of war, for any cause deemed an offense under international law. In a later telegram to Captain Pitts, timed 10:30 c'clock p. m., Mizner says:

"If your ship is within one league of the territory of Guatemala and yon have on board General Barrundia its becomes your duty, under the law of nations, to deliver him to the authorities of Guatemala upon their demand, allegations having been made to this legation this republic. Guarantees have been made to me, by this government that his life shall not be in this life shall not be in the state of the sevential of the sevential and the best of the sevential of the se Guatemalan officers on board the Pacific Mail

The hill, he said, was confessedly of the first importance, most far-reaching in its consequence and, inteopinion of many, most menacing to the peace, happiness and freedom of the people of several sates. Notwithstanding the sneers uttered by the president of the United States as to the objections of those who opposed the bill, there were these on his side of the chamber and throughout the country (he believed a majority of the free men of the country), who believed that the bill was one that threatened the integrity of Americanistitutions, state and national; that it was fraught with greatest danger to the future prosperly of the whole country, and that it menaced the listifies of the people of all the states. It was men to longer able to provide for, and that the people of the states were no longer able to provide for, and that the people of the states were no longer able to the intensed with the control of their own elections.

by this government that his life shall not be in danger or any punishment inflicted upon him other than for the causes charged. The guarantees of Barrundia's personal safety, Mizner says, were at his request promised the night before by the president. Subsequently he received a telegram from Commander Reiter, of the navy, acknowledging Guatemala's right over the steamer, and requesting the minister to obtain permission from the government to return Barrundia to Mexico in the Thetis.

The minister of foreign relations positively declined to accede to this request.

All the circumstances and Barrundia's well-known hostility to the republic and attempted invasion from Mexico, Mizner says, decided his course, and he accordingly, in rosponse to the request for written and not telegraphic orders, sent Captain litts a letter advising the captain to submit to the arrest of his passenger. The following day Commander Reiter telegraphed Barrundia's death while resisting arrest.

The minister then continues: "The minister of foreign relations informed me yesterday that Barrundia feared violence from the rook on houre as to the names, politics, nationality, etc., dis male inmates.

In Gray characterized that official as the examination that for the province," and head: "In all measures which provoked and said our ancestors to resist the tyramy of a faish king, there was none that approached its infamy of this provision, and moderate at am in all my conceptions of making as a citizen and man, law-abiding as I am head of the provision and the law and law a

The minister then continues: "The minister of foreign relations informed me yesterday that Barrundia feared violence from the mob on account of his many cruelties, when secretary of war under Barrios, rather than any serious punishment by the government, and that he was secretly buried for the same reasons. The minister, however, said the government could have protected him from violence."

On August 28th Commander George Reiter dispatched to the navy department his report of the Barrundia affair. It is in harmony in its preliminations of the same process.

Mr. Edmunds expressed the opinion that it such to stand. He regarded it as a very proper provision, and said that he was in favor of underizing the proper officers (either state or mideal) to go to a man's house (in verifying restration, ring the bell and make the inquiry.

The Bank of England h reduced its rate to 5 per cent, gaining $3,565,000 gold for the week, and the Bank of France $1,230,gold for the week, and the Bank of France $1,200,000 gold.

Foreign commerce is heavily in favor of this country. While imports at New York for November exceed last year's, which were unusually light, by 12 per cent, the increase in exports here has been $2, per cent, though last year's were remarkably heavy, so that the excess of exports for the month was probably over $2,000,000.

Thus no pressure of the difficulty should now be felt here, if foreign influence only were constaints.

Thus no pressure of the difficulty should now be felt here, if foreign influence only were operative.

In domestic affairs there has been a distinct improvement in the disposition of banks and money lenders to give necessary support to legitimate business, curtailing speculative advances as far as possible. This wiser disposition is shown not only in much larger issues of clearing house certificates and larger loans here, but in dipatches from many other places.

The volume of trade is still surprisingly heavy, and clearing house exchanges and railroad earnings and returns from many centers of trade are larger than ever before at this season. The legitimate business of the country should soon recover its nominal state of health.

Reports from other lines show that the cheapness of cotton at the south and the delay of winter weather at the north have somewhat reduced transactions and caused more tardiness in collections than heretofore, but colder weather and the approach of the holiday season already begin to liave a favorable effect at many points. The general volume of trade throughout the country, is so heavy, that with the advance of 7½ per cent in proces since a year ago, larger supplies of money are absorbed. The amount of currency in circulation is now over $1,504,000,000, being $87,000,000 larger than a year ago. The treasury has taken in about week.

Pig iron is rather weaker in tone, and numerous furnaces are likely to go out of blast if prices yield further. The demands for finished products of iron and steel are less than a month ago, and rails are weak with scanty sales.

Woolen manufacturers are moving with caution. Labor troubles are very few, and the industry of the country is remarkably well employed at fair wages.

The Indians Helping Themselves to Government Beef.

Chicaco, December 5.—A special from Pine Ridge agency says the situation has not materially changed. The hostile Rosebud Indians sleep upon their arms, prepared constantly for attack. They have three lines of signal couriers between this agency and their camp, and any movement of troops would be known in a few moments. They have taken all they wish of the government beef herd, and burned the buildings and corrals. They are living high, and are happy. They have moved to the edge of the Bad Lands. Military preparations proceed rapidly. Unless the Indians come in within a very few days, troops will be equipped and in position, when the advance may be ordered.

The defendants alleged that Bridget and Ellen was not the same person, and that Ellen, who they contended was the first wife, was married at Liverpool in 1854, and died at Nassau in 1862. They further alleged that the marriage to Bridget was in 1858, at Wilmington, and that being different persons. Ellen being alive, the marriage to Bridget was void. Thomas H. Smith married Mary E. Watson, at Wilmington, in 1867, and died intestate in 1887, since which date Mary E. Smith has held all the property. The trial, which has consumed all the week, resulted in a verdict tonightin favor of the plaintiff or the entire property. The jury also found that Ellen Smith and Bridget Massa was the same woman. The case was in all its aspects the most remarkable ever tried in North Carolina. There were scores of witnesses, and of depositions taken in England and the United States. The defendants will appeal to the supreme court.

THE KNIGHTS AND THE FARMERS.

Their Leaders Negotiating Upon Terms Which May Mean United Political Action and a Ticket in 1892. OCALA, Fla., December 5 .- [Special.]-This has been a day of business in the alliance con-

The investigation committee has reported the St. Louis platform has been reaffirmed, and the officers have been elected.

All of importance that remains is the disposition of the financial question, and the third party question. There may be considerable discussion on the financial questions, for it involves both the subtreasury plan and the land loan idea, but the disposition of the third party question seems to be in sight, and it's a compromise The nature of the compromise was set forth in Dr. Macune's speech this morning, and it is understood that the suggestion it contained will be adopted in the form of a resolution.

Dr. Macune's Report. Dr. C. W. Macune, chairman of the national executive committee, submitted his annual report of the work accomplished by that body during the past year. It referred at length to the work of the committee in having the subtreasury bill drawn and presented to congress. The chairman said that the committee's mission in this particula was virtually ended, because the alliance had elected forty congressmen, who would look after pushing the bill through the national legislature. In a short time, he said, the members of congress will pass this bill. If not willingly, then by com promise. The report recommended the reduction of the salaries of all national alliance officers and the removal from Washington city of the national alliance president's office, inasmuch as the retention of it there entails an expense not commensurate with its

Dr. Macune also took particular pains to impress upon the delegates that during the past year the chairman of the executive committee had not been engaged in lobbying for alliance measures, but had relied always upon the merits of the bills and the moral power and infinence which stood behind them. At the conclusion of the reading of the report, Dr. Macune addressed the convention upon the policy of the alliance, and especially with reference to its position upon leading public measures, and its attitude toward the democratic and republican parties in future political contests.

leading public measures, and its attitude toward the democratic and republican parties in future political contests.

After adjournment of the forencon session, Dr. Macune gave out the following report of his utterances upon the third parry question:

"I told the delegates that the people in the southern states were not prepared to embark in a third party movement; that they had elected delegates to this convention; that the people of some western and northwestern states had already embarked if the movement and considered that the property of the order demanded some action of that kind to sustain them in their efforts. In this emergency was the great necessity for conservatism and caution. We should not forget that we are representing the people at home, and not our own likes and dislikes. I recommended as a compromise that would carry out the end sought to be achieved by the west and north, if it met the approbation of the south, that a convention be called to meet in February, 1892; that the convention be called to meet in February, 1892; that the next annual session of the supreme council elect delegates to represent this order in that convention. I sustained this by saying it didn't commit the people, but provided a means, whereby they could express themselves on this great question through their subsordinate country and state organizations during the coming year. When the great convention meets, said delegates will come there with authority and instructions from their people. If their people decide in favor of independent party action, it will prevail. will come there with authority and instructions from their people. If their people decide in favor of independent party action, it will prevail. If not, the cause will still be benefited by the conference, and there will be a better understanding of the objects which the labor organizations are seeking to achieve. This is the basis of all I recommended, but it has taken a wonderful hold upon them, and will satisfy both sides.

It is But a Temporary Victory.

While this is a temporary victory for the southern delegates, who oppose independent political action, it puts the matter in a shape which may ultimately give the western in-dependents the victory. If the convention of 1892; should be called, as it doubtless will be, the ques-tion will come up, not before the Farmers' Alli-ance, with an assured mrjority against independtion will come up, not before the Farmers' Alliance, with an assured mrjority against independent action, but before a composite body made up of delegates from the Farmers' Alliance, Knights of Labor, farmers' mutual benefit associations, trades unions, the grange and all the organizations of producers. This body will represent a total constituency of something like double the membership of the Farmers' Alliance, if the colored alliance should go in, as they are likely to do. Their 750,000 votes, the 90,000 votes of the trades unions and the Knights of Labor, and the 300,000 votes of the other farmers' organizations, will make more than a majority of the whole producers, organizations represented in the covention. In that state of affairs, the southern members of the Farmers' Alliance, separated from their western brethern, would be in a hopeless minority. This is a contingency which must be faced for it is not only possible but probable, if the call for the convention be issued.

Mr. T. V. Fowderly, with A. W. Wright and John W. Hayes, are here as a fraternal committee from the Knights of Labor, and are at this time addressing the alliance. Their business here is to confer with the alliance on the formation of a third party, composed of all the industrial organizations of the country, and they will ask the farmers to appoint a committee of conference. The knights are for a convention next February, a year earlier than the date suggested by Dr. Macune, and Powderly's| committee comes clothed with almost plenary power to act for the Knights of Labor.

Mr. Powderly Talks.

Mr. Powderly Talks. Mr. Powderly Talks.

Tonight Mr. Powderly was shown the above synopsis of Dr. Macune's speech, and was asked what he had to say on the subject.

After reading it over deliberately, he took up the After reading it over deliberately, he took up the minutes of the knights' Denver convention, and turned to the report of the committee on independent political action, which he read as follows:
"It is a conceded fact, by every thoughful mind, that most of the objects set forth in the preamble of the Knights of Labor, can only be secured by independent political action; therefore, your committee recommend that the grand master workman correspond with the chief officers of other industrial and reform organizations, with a view to the holding of a national reform industrial conference on the basis of the platform adopted at the St. Louis conference to 1890, the conference to be had at as early a date as possible, so that a solid and harmonious union of the industrial and reform forces of the country may be consummated, that will enact the principals of our premable into statutory law."

solid and harmonious union of the industrial and reform forces of the country may be consummated, that will enact the principals of our preamble into statutory law."

On the first view it seems that a union between all the sons of toil, whether on the farm or in the shop, is the most natural thing in the world, and that in the natural order of events, it is inevitable. But when we examine the principles held by the two leading organizations, the Farmers' Alliance and the kinghts of Labor, the road is not quite clear to their agreement on a political platform after they have got together in convention.

The knights, for instance, are single tax men, Mr. Powderly said tonight that they had gone farther than that on the land question. How the farmers, whose all is in land, are to be brought upon a platform which includes the demand that land shall bear all the burdens of government, is not quite clear.

The western farmers, on the contrary, want to put in the platform that the government shall lend money on land, an idea which carries with it the principle of private property in land, but as the knights would be in a hopeless minority on the single tax idea, they might be willing to waive that in order to joint the farmers on the financial reforms, on which they are substantially united, the laboring man's demand being that the government shall issue money directly to the people.

The Money Question.

As Mr. Powderly expressed it to me tonight, they think that "if paper money is good enough to kill people with, it is a great deal better to keep them alive on."

When questioned by the committee about the free coinage of silver, Mr. Wright replied that they considered bimetalism a less evit than the gold standard, but that metallic money was unscientific at best.

While iracternal greatings are being exchanged between the knights and the farmers, the white and colored brethren of the alliance have a joint conference committee at work on the subject of amalgamation under the same rules. Despite the diverse action of the force bill, the white and colored alliancemen appear to be on the best terms, and as Patillo, the negro allianceman from North Carolina, said this afternoon, their colored brethren would have taken no action on the Lodge bill but for the action of the white alliance.

At the afternoon of the white altiance.

The Investigating Report.

At the afternoon session Chairman McDowell presented the report of the committee appointed to investigate the charges and insinuations affecting the official conduct of Polk, Livingston and Macune. The committee finds:

1. That we have been unable to ascertain a single fact implicating, in any way, shape or form, the high character and standing, and personal and official reputation of our worthy president, L. E. Polk, but we regret his writing of the Norwood letter.

2. As to Brother Livingston, president of the the Norwood letter.

2. As to Brother Livingston, president of the Georgia State Alliance, we do not find anything derogatory of his personal or official high standing, but your committee is not quite prepared to endorse his course in the Georgia senatorial contest.

endorse his course in the Georgia senatorial contest.

3. That in the case of Dr. C. W. Macune, nothing hasbeen found to lessen our confidence in his personal integrity and loyalty to the order. However, we regret his official connection with the Georgia senatorial contest.

While the verdict has enough cracker on the end of it to touch up the brethren a little, it has restored harmony, and the old officers, with the exception of Terrell, were re-elected unanimonsiy and with great enthusiasm. It is said that Terrell was defeated because he was not in full sympathy with Polk, However that may be, Mr. Willetts, the
to be chosen on his own merits.

Rice's Rampant Speech,

Cone of the most remarkable performances of the week occurred last night, when G. F. Rice, the third party leader, got up to speak in behalf of the Mississippi Levee Association, which he represents here. After talking five minutes about the river, he jamped on the republican party like a peccary upon a snake.

on the republican party like a peccary upon a snake.

"No man," said he, "honors it more for what it has done in the past than I do. It restored the government and freed the slaves, and for this I give it honor. Time and unlimited patronage have corrupted it until its only ambition now is for loaves and fishes. It originated in the highest impulses of human liberty, but now it has fallen from its high estate, and has become a prowling plunderer. It professes religion, but is an infidel. It professes freedom, but is a treacherous tyrant. It professes virtue, and is a prostitute. It professes honesty and is a thief. It is a gigantic conspiracy to erect a moneyed imperialism on the ruins of free institutions. If the south will go into this third party, get in the saddle, march to Richmond. I will meet it with squadrons from the northwest, and we will wipe

The Macune Idea. As an offset to the western idea, the middle course marked out by Dr. Macune's speech, I give the views of President Polk and Colonel Livingston, representing the sonthern wing of the Livingston, representing the southern wing of the alliance.

Colonel Livingston says:

"It is believed in the south that, when the democratic and republican parties find out our strength, they will yield to our demands without a fight. I confess I cannot imagine any condition by which the republican party would get the southern alliance vote. I can understand how the democratic party, with low taxes and the adoption of our other principles, could get our support. The democratic party is changing rapidly in its ideas about our platform. They will come to fear us in the fitty-second congress more than ever before. The democratic party will be on trial in that congress. The alliance stands just where Jefferson and Webster and Calhoun and Lincoln and Seward and Summer stood. Lincoln was just as thoroughly opposed to monopoly as the alliance is today. We do not hope to break down either party, but hope and expect that one or both parties will see the necessity of coming to our relief. I believe the democratic platform of 1892 will include all the planks of our St. Louis platform of 1889."

Fresident Polk Talks.

President Polk said:

"The thread of public opiniou among the masses is evidently in the direction of independent political action. Whether such sentiment is to be formulated and resolved into a third or independent party depends greatly ayon the action of the present congress in regard to the financial system of the ceived to false issues which have been pressed with great vigor, particularly by party leaders for the past twenty-five years. They are investigating the situation for themselves with great earnestness, and they have concluded that their chief evil is in the financial system of the government. There is a universal demand for financial reform, by which all classes and interests are to secure justice at the hands of government in the matter of the issue and distribution of currency. They are scrutinizing closely the history of the two political parties for twenty-five years on this subject, and find that the great leaders, and, indeed, the platforms of the parties, have run in parallel lines on the question of finance. If this course shall be persisted in, as evidenced by the last campaign, it will add very greatly in precipitating this grea: issue, and that the people, distrustful of the sincerity of the leaders, will rally under one banner, and their slogan will be financial reform. The great economic questions which confront the people, and agitate the public mind, seem to have been studiously avoided by the political speakers of both parties in the past campaign, except where we forced free discussion, and this, in the face of the fact that never in the history of the country has there been such an urgent demand on party leaders and congress for President Polk Talks.

campaign, except where we forced free discussion, and this, in the face of the fact that never in the history of the country has there been such an urgent demand on party leaders and congress for reform in this direction. Under our form of government, where free discussion is encouraged, the people naturally depend on the prominent men in politics. If they shall have just cause to distruct the fidelity of these men to their interest, and to suspect that they are in the interest of the monopolistic power of the country, it is natural they should withdraw their confidence. I am free to say that we are rapidly approaching that point, and there is no disposition on the part of these leaders and of the money power to make any concessions whatever to the demands of the people. The conflict is, therefore, not only probable, but inevitable between the people and the money power, unless there be a change in the policy of the government as administered by the party leaders today. In fact, the wealth producers and all industrial classes feel that we have more of a party than a popular government. This being the feeling among the great masses, it is not wondered at that the great leading papers are watching the developments as to the third party movement. Our organization, as such, can no more endorse the third party than they, can the democratic or the republican party, but still its true the people composing these organno more endorse the third party than they, can the democratic or the republican party, but still it is true the people composing these organizations are being rapidly educated to the absolute necessity of bold and determined action. The Details of the Day.

At the morning session of the National Alliance Colonel L. F. Livingston, of Georgia, from the committee on organization made the report which is to furnish the basis for an ultimate union between the National Farmers Alliance and Industrial Union and the Farmers Mitual Benefit Association, which is an organization with a large membership in the western states.

The report was explained at length by Chairman Livingston. Under this proposition the Mutual Benefit Association is to still maintain its separate organization, but to be entitled to representation in the National Alliance council, and the executive committee of each organization is to meet hereafter and arrange the details of this union.

At the conclusion of Colonel Livingston's remarks, which occupied nearly an hour, the report was adopted without dissent. This action undoubtedly means the absolute consolidation of these two organizations in the near future.

these two organizations in the near future.

The Fr. LOUIS PLATFORM.

Colonel Livingston offered a resolution providing for the adoption of the St. Louis alliance platform of 1889, inasmuch as there has been a question raised as to the unanimous endorsement of the demand therein contained by all the state delegations one year ago. Colonel Livingston's idea was to call out any objections which might exist as to the absolutely unanimous endorsement.
This platform demands the abolition of national banks and the substitution of legal tender treasury notes in lieu of national bank notes, in sufficient volume to carry on the business of the country on a cash system: that congress prevent by law dealing in "futures" of all agricultural and mechanical productions; the free and unlimited coinage of silver, and the prohibution of the atien ownership of land, and the adoption of some just plan by which the government may acquire ownership in such lands, and also in lands held by the railroad companies in excess of actual needs; that taxation, both state and national shall not be used to build up one interest or class at the expense of another; that all revenues, national state and country, shall be limited to the actual necessary expenditures of the government, economically and honestly administered; that congress issue sufficient fractional currency to facilitate the exchange, through the United States mails, and that all neans of communication and transportation shall be owned by the government.

An amendment was offered by Mr. Loucks, of North Dakota, providing for the ownership of all

COMING TOGETHER. GLADSTONE AND THE IRISH COM-

MITTEE MEET. AN ARRANGEMENT WILL BE MADE

and the Fight for Home Rule Will Go On as Usual-Result of the Conference Yes-terday-A Conciliatory Attitude.

LONDON, December 5 .- Redmond, Sexton Healy, Leamy, and two whips, Power and Deasy, being, with the exception of Parnell, all the committee appointed at vesterday's meeting of Irish members of parliament to confer with Mr. Gladstone, drove to the residence of the liberal leader at 12:40 o'clock. All the members of the committee, with the exception of the whips, entered the house. Ten minutes before the arrival of the Irish delegation, Mr. Morley, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Earl Spencer, and Earl Granville, who had been conferring with Gladstone, took their departure. The conference has occupied more time than at first expected. The deliberations lasted an hour, and upon their conclusion the delegates returned to a room in the house of commons, in which the proceed-ings of the nationalists are being held. The assurances given by Mr. Gladstone to the delegates who waited upon him today fully satisfy the majority of the nationalist that he will make a genuine attempt to deal with the constabulary and land question to the satisfaction of the Irish people.

CLANCEY'S AMENDMENT RESCINDED.

Before appointing the committee of four the meeting unanimously rescinded Mr. Clancey's amendment, which was approved yesterday. Although no formal division was taken on the amendment yesterday, Mr. Clancey's proposal was practicelly adopted by a show of hands. It is surmised that the action of the meeting in rescinding the amendment was taken at the request of Mr. Gladstone, in order to permit a freer hasis for negotiations. CLANCEY'S AMENDMENT RESCINDED.

Mr. Gladstone declined to accept Mr. Par-Air. Guastone declined to accept Mr. Par-nell's suggestion that he summon Messrs. Morley and Harcourt to receive with him joint delegations of the two sections of the Irish party. He insisted that if he received them, the arrangements should be made at his own discretion.

Irish whips today, acting for the Irish party, requested Mr. Gladstone uncoditionally to receive Clancy and Redmond, representing Mr. Parnell, and Sexton and Healy, representing Parnell's opponents. To this Mr. Gladstone Parnell's opponents. To this Mr. Gladstone consented.

Mr. Gladstone, at the meeting with the Irish delegates, in no way pledged himself, nor did he use language imparting that he was able himself, to define the course that the liberal partylwould adopt.

Mr. Gladstone gave the Irish delegation a cordial reception. He acted throughout with the full approval of his colleagues. He discussed the whole position of the liberals, the present political situation and the probable effect of Mr. Parnell's retentlon of the Irish leadership on the liberal party.

effect of Mr. Parnell's retention of the Irish leadership on the liberal party.

Arnold Morley was present at the conference, and when it was over he remained in consultation with Mr. Gladstone. Subsequently he told reporters that Mr. Gladstone did not intend to publish anything regarding the meeting.

did not intend to publish anything regarding the meeting.

The delegates were also reluctant to give particulars of the interview, which they regarded as strictly confidential. It is doubtful whether Mr. Parnell, will consider, that Mr. Gladstone's reception of the delegates, without the presence of Morley and Hardourt, fulfils the conditions of the arrangement.

A resolution relating to Mr. Parnell, which was adopted by the Catholic hierarchy of England, will be read in all the Catholic churches and chapels in Ireland. Messrs. Healy and Sexton, anti-Parnell members of the delegation, are satisfied with the result of the Interview with Mr. Gladstone.

The liberal leader gave no definite promise regarding the points submitted, but he said sufficient, in their opinion, to justify a majority of the Irish party in considering his assurances satisfactory.

NEW YORK, December 5.—The Catholic News has received the following from its Dublin correspondent, Thomas Sherlock, an Irish journal-ist, whose relations with nationalist members of parliament are of a very close nature:

parliament are of a very close nature:

"On authority which I have good reason to consider excellent, I make the statement that Mr. Parnell has assured at least two members of the Irish parliamentary party that the charge made against him by Captain O'Shea is utterly without foundation in fact, and that he looks forward to the near time when he will be able to prove as much with good results to the Irish cause. Remembering how totally unnecessary it was for Mr. Parnell to make any statement of the kind to them, and remembering also his habit of never allowing himself to be hurried into defending himself one instant sooner than he can do so with splendid effect for the good of the cause with which his life has been identified, and taking into account the private statement of a servant who lived with Mrs. O'Shea at Eltham for three years, and who says that she was offered a large bribe to swear falsely that she had seen something more happening between Parnell and Mrs. O'Shea than would occur in the case of an ordinary gentleman visitor, these two members of the Irish parliamentary party are convinced that Mr. Purnell is simply biding his own time to vindicate himself at the precise moment when vindicate himself at the precise moment when vindicate himself at the effect for Irisland. However, night before last the college students put up a joke on the young hero from Spalding county, who had just been handing around a letter from his fair one.

A bogus telegram was fixed up and delivered to the young man. It stated that Miss So-an-so, the sweetheart in the case, would be in Atlanta Thursday evening for a short while, and gave the street where she could be found.

He was convicted at the October term of Worth superior court, two weeks after the murder. He confessed the crime. Watson was a good-looking negro, with a pleasant face, and was about thirty-five years of age.

MARCHED FROM THE JAIL. At 10:45 o'clock this morning the procession started from the Isabella jail. In a two-horse wagon was Watson, sitting upon his coffin, and npanied by Sheriff Cox and Deputy Sheriff Green Nelson. Following in double file came eighteen guards, armed with Winchester rifles. They proceeded about half s mile to where the gallows had been erected in the center of a large natural amphitheater. Around it, on every side, the land rose upward, covered with a lovely growth

Jordan Merritt, colored, offered up an eloquent prayer. Hymn 627, of the African Methodist hurch, was then sang, and the negroes joined in with fervor, their powerful voices ringing melodiously amid the solemn pines. A rope had been stretched around the gallows, within which were the officers, guards and reporters. Leaning across it, the condemned murderer gave a last good-bye to his friends, and shook hands with those within the enclosure He then indulged in another short harangue, in which he thanked the people of Isabella for their kindness to him. He was wrought up into a religious frenzy before he finished, and his eyes were suffused with tears.

THROUGH THE TRAP. He was again conducted to the gallows, his hands fastened behind him, his feet tied together, the noose slipped over his neck, and the black cap placed upon his head. He showed wonderful nerve, never flinching throughout the dreadful ordeal. He cried out to the assembled multitude to meet him in heaven. At 12:30 o'clock, Sheriff Cox sprung the trap, and Curry's body shot down five and a half feet. There were several convulsive struggles, at the first of which he drew up his hands and feet with terrible strength, a minute after he fell. His pulse was ninety. It fluctuated, rising and falling. a message to the legislature urging an increased appropriation for the proper maintenance of the volunteer force of the state.

The military advisory board met yesterday, and, after transacting the routine work upon their hands, called upon the governor to confer with him concerning the recommendations to be made. They found him quite willing to co-operate with them in furthering the interest of the militial force of the state.

There were present at the meeting of the advisory board, Colonel Mercer and Colonel Garrard, of Savannah; Colonel Wylie, of Macon; Colonel Jones, of Washington; Captain Forbes, of Atlanta, and Captain Gilbert, of Columbus.

There was some general discussion as to the plan of operation for next year. No radical changes are proposed, the most important being that considerably a greater part of the funds from the government is to be taken in arms and ammunition, and a strong effort is to be made to increase the state appropriation.

Admitted to the Bar.

A GYPSY AND A NEGRO

Amuse the Citizens of Albany by Having

ALBANY, Ga., December 5.—(Special.)—An amusing fight took place on the corner of Broad and Washington streets on Wednesday afternoon between a gypsy and a negro. The scene of the fracas is Albany's most public and enough fracas is Albany's most public and crowded thoroughfare. The negro made an offer for the pony of the Zingaro, which the latter took as an insult from its small amount, and forthwith drawing his whip attacked the darkey. The orawing his whip attacked the darkey. The negro thereupon, as quick as a flash, struck at the Bohemian with a drawn knife. The Gypsy thinking discretion the better part of valor, made a regular cavalry dash and sought shelter from his assailant in the nearest store. Officer James slipped upon the chaser and the chased, and lodged them both in the jail, from which they were shortly after extricated.

The party consisted of Hon. Gazaway Hartridge and wife, Hon. W. L. Clifton, of Chatham; McDaniel, of Rockdale; Tatum, of Dade: Bryan and Turner. of Floyd, and John Sibley, of Cobb; Major W. L. Glessner, of The Americus Recorder; Mr. Frank Welldon, Savannah Times. The party was driven over the city by a party of citizens.

Mr. Hartridge lectured on "The Rise and Fall Off of the Alliance," by one of the brethren. The lecture was a great treat of wit and humor, and the cultured audience was lavish in itsiapplanse. It was a great lecture and was enthusiastically received.

A Verdict of Justifiable Homicide.

JACKSON, Miss., December 5.—[Special.]—The coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable comicide in the case of Hugh West. It appeared from the evidence that Major West was the aggressor, and was making an assault on his brother with a dangerous knife when he was shot. The remains were shipped to his home, Augusta, Ga.

THIBD DAY OF THE NORTH GEORGIA CONFERENCE.

sionary Collection-The Progress in the Work—General Reports of the Business of the Year.

WASHINGTON, Ga., December 5.-[Special.] The north Georgia conference met in its third days' session at 9 o'clock. The religious exercises were conducted by the venerable Rev. F. S. I. Hardwell, reading Mark xv., and singing, "Watchmen tell us of the night," which he led in prayer. The arrival of J. S. James and W. G. Camp was announced.

THE BUSINESS OF THE DAY. THE BUSINESS OF THE DAY.

The report of the committee on the Bible cause was read by W. A. Parks. Georgía has received from the American Bible Society over $100,000 and during the year has received $6,000 and yet Georgia has only paid back about $2,000. Georgia ought to do better.

Rev. H. P. Myers, the district superintendent of the American Bible Society, was introduced and spoke of this great missionary institution. They have supplied 6,000,000 families during the last eight years. Their colporteurs reach the class of Rev. W. W. Wadsworth presented the cause of missions to the conference and a collection was taken, which raised the amount raised by Rev. Dr. H. C. Morrison, D.D., to $2,000. This is an amount in addition to the usual collections.

"Who remain on trial?" was called, and the following were passed to the class of the first year: R. Frank Eakes, John Spear, Augustus A. Tilley, Arthur B. Pope, John S. Askew, John F. Davis, Bryant H. Green.

On motion, Rev. J. L. Perryman was referred to the committee for a superannation. Rev. L. P. Neese was referred for a superannation. Rev. L. P. Neese was referred for a superannation of the committee for a superannation.

Rev. Neah H. Matthews was discontinued from the titnerant work.

Rev. W. M. Hayes, the commissioner of education to the colored Methodist church, presented his report. He is an old one-armed soldier. He said he knew we were interested in the work because Faine's institute is at Augusta, in the bounds of this body. Lane institute, at Jackson, Tenn., has about 200 pupils, most of them preparing to preach or teach.

There are a number of preachers here who have not received enough salary to keep the debt wolf away from the door. It is very sad to find these cases, for where a true man has done his best work for his people it does seem that they ought to take care of him.

Rev. H. J. Adams has been elected treasurer of the beard of missions in the place of J. S. Stewart, d'Oxford.

Rev. II. J. Assistant in the place of J. S. Stewart, of Oxford.

Rev. J. B. Armistead, of Watkinsville, is delivering a series of lectures on the book of Romans, in the afternoon, in the old Methodist church.

Rev. Miles H. Dilhard reports a grand work in Butts courty. He and Rev. J. J. N. Kenny, of the Flovilla circuit, have had a large gospel tent, and have had a fine time. They have increased the number of members from about 400 to 1,000, and have built nine churches, three of them having been organized. A good parsonage has been built at Flovilla. This has been a remarkable work.

built at Flovilla. This has been a remarkable work.

Rev. H. L. Ernsbry has done a fine work in the East Point circuit. Large accessions by conversion. Rev. Dr. E. B. Reess reports large additions in the Watkinsville circuit. Among the new churches we note the elegant one built this year in Douglasville. This is very handsome inside and out being the nicest church in a town of its size in Georgia. They have had a fine revival.

Rev. George W. Duval has had a good year, toning up the conditions of his work by fine spiritual revivals.

Rev. S. R. Belk, of Villa Rica, comes up with a glowing report, with over 125 accessions.

Rev. M. J. Cofer, the presiding elder of the Blue Ridge district, has done a superb year's work.

An elegant parsonage has been built in Carters fille, under the pastoral supervision of Rev. H. J Rev. J. T. Gibson, of the Gainesville district, has done a noble year's work.

The conference is moving on well under the management of Bishop Hargrove.

The conference elected W. D. Anderson president of the legal conference.

Dr. Bays, transferred from Tennessee, preached this afternoon a striking and eloquent sermon.

The educational anniversary at night had an able report from Drs. Lee and Robinson and an address from President Candler.

HON. GAZ HARTRIDGE'S LECTURE Next Tuesday Evening at the Gate City Guard's Armory.

Hon. Gaz Hartridge, of Chatham, lectures next mesday evening at the Gate City Guard's armory. His subject will be, "The Rise and Fall Off of the Farmers' Alliance." it is quite safe to promise in advance that it will be one of the brightest and most entertaining lectures ever delivered in the city.

The subject is attractive in itself, and the wit and logic of the lecturer is guarantee that "all there is in it" will be brought out in the happiest way possible.

The armory is to be handsomely fitted up for the occasion, well lighted and thoroughly comfortable

Atlanta and Her Critics. The esteemed Savannah News has discovered that Atlanta contributed less to the fund for the relief of the Johnstown sufferers than Savannah did. The information comes to our contemporary direct, and seems to have completely unsettled its nerves. The result is-an editorial in which the editor labors to prove that the people of Atlanta are an uncharitable set, not given to good deeds to any great extent. We will not quarrel with our contemporary for that statement. It is not worth the words. It seems to be the desire of The News to find fault with Atlanta, but the reason for this is apparent to all. Atlanta may have fallen behind Savannah in this Johnstown affair, but that does not prove that her people are uncharitable and not given to good works. Atlanta's record is before the world, and the world approves it. The chief complaint of our contemporary is that Atlanta is for Atlanta first. This is true, and the magnificent city which has been built by her citizens proves it. Why not profit by Atlanta's example and build up Savannah a little? The city can stand it, and while it may be in a flourishing condition, there is great room for improvement, Why not leave Atlanta to the unalloyed enjoyment of her fame, and go to work for Sa

Atlanta has always been first to advocate and push to successful completion the best enterprises and institutions of the state, and every mile on the pathway of southern progress is marked with the record of her unselfish and patriotic work. But in the meantime, she has not neglected her own interests, and it is because of this that she is envied of other cities.

Let The News take a new start and go to work for Savannah. The space devoted to ungenerous criticisms of Atlanta and her people would be better employed in placing the interests of Savannah before the country. Suppose you make the experiment?

Caused by the Force Bill. A short time ago, when the subject of the force bill came up in a group of talkers, a gentleman remarked that one result of the bill was the widespread publication of statistics concerning the south and its resources. This is undoubtedly true. Petitions against the bill were sent to congress last summer from various northern cities, and in these petitions the millions of dollars invested by northern men in the south were stated in round numbers. Philadelphia, for instance, claimed that she had $15,000,000 invested in the south, and on that account, as well as for other good reasons, she protested against a measure calculated to impair her investments. Then questions were asked as to the nature of the enterprises in the south which had attracted so much northern capital. The replies to these inquiries brought out many interesting facts and figures showing that the south was rapidly growing rich. Numerous manuals and pamphlets were printed to satisfy the demand for southern information, and it is safe to say that the views of the south entertained by the average northerner six months ago have since that time undergone a great change. The well-informed people of the north now believe that in the near future the south will be the richest section of the union. Partisan leaders may be willing to interfere with the progress of the rising south, but the American people, who rightly regard business as a bigger and more profitable thing than sectional politics, cannot be persuaded to endorse the bayonet election law. The story of the development of southern resources has stirred up a vigorous opposition to the force bill throughout the north and west. Politicians may threaten ruin if they cannot rule, but the people of this country are not willing to strike a blow at a land whose wealth promises to benefit every quarter of the republic.

A Great Lawyer Gone. The death in New York of Judge W. S. Chisholm, of Savannah, deprives the bar of one of its brightest ornaments. Judge Chisholm was a member of the law firm of Chisholm, Erwin and DuBignon-a firm intrusted with the business of several of the largest corporations in the south. His distinguished ability was everywhere recognized, and Senator Evarts once said of him that he was the ablest lawyer he had ever met before the federal supreme court.

The dead man leaves behind him a splendid record and a stainless name. His loss will be sincerely mourned, not only by those who were near to him, and by the legal profession, but throughout Georgia.

The Congressional Silver Pool.

In regard to the Dockery resolution touched on in our dispatches of yesterday. asking for an investigation into certain charges made in western newspapers, it is quite safe to predict that it will not be pushed as vigorously as it might be. The charges are to the effect that certain senators and representatives, taking advantage of their inside knowledge of the prospects of the silver bill that was passed during the last session, entered into a pool, bought silver at a low price and sold it out for a profit averaging many millions.

Mr. Dockery's bill is supposed to be for the purpose of probing this matter to the bottom. It is hinted, however, that the resolution of investigation will be allowed to slumber for awhile. It seems that, without knowing it, Mr. Dockery has been playing with dynamite, and a too free use of his tamping rod would cause a tremendous explosion. It seems that as soon as Mr. Dockery brought his resolution before the house, he got all the inside facts he wanted to know.

facts. He discovered that some of his dear friends were mixed up in the business. The members of the pool stumbled over each other in their efforts to get to Mr. Dockery and tell him all about it.

To say that he was grieved and astonished would hardly express the real condition of his feelings. He was shocked and alarmed. According to all accounts, the silver pool, in which many senators and representatives had nice soft places, bought options on 40,000,000 of ounces, the product of our mines for eight months. The pools-there were three or four of these beautiful machines at work-made about $8,000,000 out of the passage of the silver bill.

We shall watch Mr. Dockery's resolution of investigation with interest.

Edward Atkinson's Remedy. It is now a well-settled fact that during two months of the year-the crop-moving season-the country needs more money than during the remaining ten months. The disbursement of money from the treasury for the purchase of bonds is not an adequate remedy, and the national banks no longer increase their circulation in stringent times, as they did ten or twelve years ago, because the high prices of the bonds which are the basis of the circulation stand in the

Mr. Edward Atkinsou proposes the issue of "convertible bank notes or other instruments of credit" to be used as "a symbol of the product or capital which is in process of movement, to be redeemed when the product enters into consumption." This system would not inflate the currency; it would only temporarily add to it for two or three months in the year when it is most needed.

The merits of this suggestion will doubtless be discussed by our statesmen. Mr. Atkinson is a conservative thinker and a student of financial and economic problems. When such a man admits that the present volume of currency does not supply the demands of business at one season of the year, and advises an expansive currency, it goes to show that the Farmers' Alliance is by no means unreasonable in making financial reform the slogan for the future.

The money monopolists will find it impossible to prove that with only $22 per capita our people can satisfactorily transact business requiring about $50 per capita. They may sneer at our farmers, but what have they to say to Mr. Atkinson?

The Republican Quarrel.

In the midst of the hurly-burly it is well to call attention to an interesting cat fight now going on among the republicans over the McKinley tariff law. The storm center is in the west, with high winds and a low barometer extending into the northwest and over a large section of country.

Some of the most prominent western re publicans, who were prepared to swallow the McKinley law, or any other law, in the event of republican success, are not so rank in their partisanship that they do not clearly understand and appreciate the verdict of the people. They perceive that if the McKinley law is to remain as it is and the force bill to be adopted-if the people are to be robbed by one and aggravated by the other-the revolution which was recorded at the polls on the 4th of November, will take on larger proportions, and result in sweeping the republican party out of existence, especially in the west and northwest, where the voters are beginning to understand the true in wardness of high tariff bills. Meantime, another section of the party, including such portions of the administration as can be found with a microscope, is swearing by cross and by piles that the McKinley law shall stand, and that the force bill shall be enacted into a law. Essentially, the fight is between the narrowminded and bigoted east, and the broaderminded west. The republicans of the east are led by such men as Hoar and Quay, and such men cannot get beyond the limitations of their unscrupulous partisanship.

It is a very pretty fight as it stands, and the result of it will be an overwhelming democratic victory in 1892 unless some unforseen complications arise.

More Money for the Navy. Secretary Tracy is determined that the standing joke on the American navy shall be annihilated. Some years ago the joke on the navy enjoyed wide popularity, but it was at a time when we had no navy to speak of. and when congress seemed to ignore the fact that a navy was a necessity. But since that time large appropriations have been made for battle ships, and our navy presents a more formidable appearance. Much good work in this line was done by ex Secretary Whitney, and it must be said for the present secretary that he has also accomplished good work since he assumed the duties of the office.

But when is the navy to be completed? At least, when will it be sufficiently strong to make further large appropriations un necessary? Already the naval appropriations amount to $30,000,000, nine millions more than the appropriations for the German navy, and Secretary Tracy is crying for more. He advocates increased appropria tions; he wants twelve more battle ships, and wants them right away.

It is well to have a good navy; it may be useful in case of an emergency. But there is no need to be extravagant. Secretary Tracy is unnecessarily alarmed. The people are groaning under the burdens of heavy appropriations for other purposes. The navy has not been slighted; it has had its full share, and should have in the future. But it may be made a burden to the people, who now have more than they can bear conveniently. By all means, let us keep the navy up; but let us not drain the treasury to do it. Secretary Tracy wants to make a record in his department, but he can do that without the great extravagance he advocates. He has done very well already, and the navy is doing very well. But he shouldn't tax the country so heavily to support it. His figures are entirely too large and will evoke a general protest If we could divide this pension business little we could see our way clear to appropriations for other purposes. But even then it would not do to let the navy capture the treasury. It should have a limit, as well as everything else.

THE SOUTHERN farmers at Ocala have passed resolutions denouncing the Conger lard bill. In a matter of this kind, the alliancemen of all sections stand together. Indeed, the silver speculators in the senate and house fairly overwhelmed him with rison for a second term. With Mr. Benny Harrison for a second term. Harrison as the nominee, the republicans would have a soft candidate and the de a soft thing.

IF THE Indians carry on their ghost dance many more days they will have to wear snow shoes.

EDITORIAL COMMENT. THE CHARLESTON WORLD remarks that it is a question whether the control of one of the great dailies of New York or London does not bestow greater and more despotic powers than those en-joyed by any single official in either country.

LAUNT THOMPSON, the famous New York scalptor, has been sentenced to blackwers island three mouths for drunkenness. His wife and children are at present in Europe. Mr. Thompson received $40,000 for his statue of General Burnside. He is a man of culture and genius, and has made a fortune by his work. It is thought that his friends will interfere, and have him sent to an asylum. THE RICHMOND STATE has the following strange story: "The Trappist monastery, situated in Ken-tucky, is the home of those monks upon whom the injunction of perpetual silence is placed. The stories that sift through to the outside world, with more or less romantic detail concerning the individual monks of LaTrappe, are many. There is one told of a brother at Gethsemane, which is old, but full of dramatic suggestion. He was a soldier of Napoleon, so it was said, and after the emperor's first abdication, took the cowl of the 'Brown Brothers,' and ultimately came to Gethsemane. Forty years he lived in silence, hearing nothing of the world's history, but with one item of curiosity left unnuenched. When he came to die, and was lifted from his hard couch and laid upon the harder floor, strewed with straw, when all followers of the

for the Library. The formal contract for Henry M. Stanley's ecture in Atlanta was signed yesterday between the Young Men's Library Association and Major J. B. Pond, of New York, Mr. Stanley's agent. The greatest of living explorers will lecture in J. B. Pond, of New York, Mr. Stanley's agent.

The greatest of living explorers will lecture in Atlanta, at DeGive's opera house, on Wednesday night, April 1st, under the auspices of the library, which is to receive a portion of the proceeds derived from the lecture. The contract was signed for the library by President W. M. Slaton.

The lecture will be the event of the coming year, and it is highly probable that the proceeds from and it is highly probable that the proceeds from it will amount to more than has ever before be taken in at one entertainment at the opera house. It will be the society event of the year, and no loubt hundreds will come to Atlanta from the neighboring cities to see and hear the man who has been talked of for the past few years probably more than any living man, and whose services have attracted the attention of the whole world. Atlanta is the only city between New York and Baitimore in which Mr. Stanley will lecture.

In this connection it is worth while to note the splendid work that the library has been doing under the splendid management of President Slaton. Under his administration there have been brought in the President Slaton. Under his administration there have been brought in 216 new members, and the membership of this year more than doubles that of last year. The collections for November amounted to more than three times as much as those for the same month last year. The library has $800 in the treasury. At the last meeting of the board of trustees $200 was appropriated for the purchase of new books. Professor Slaton has by his own efforts brought in almost 300 new names.

Mr. James Nutting is the chairman of the committee on entertainments, and is laboring zealously for the library. He has several interesting events booked for the coming year, which will not only interest the people of Atlanta, but the proceeds derived from them will contribute materially to the library fund.

New York, December 5, 1890.—Captain Evan P. Howell, Atlanta, Ga. I regret to inform you of the death early this morning of our mutual friend, Judge W. S. Chisholm. M. J. O'Brien.

The news of the death created much talk about the legislature and in legal circles especially. The members of the senate and house from south Georgia, and indeed, from all parts of the state, expressed great sorrow at the death of this distinguished citizen.
In legal circles, where he was probably best known, many expressions of esteem for the man and regret for his death wereheard. "Evarts once said of him," remarked one gentleman, "that he was the best lawyer fore the supreme court that the south had. And that was the estimate put upon him by the bar of the country." SOMETHING OF HIS LIFE.

Judge Chisholm was in his fifty-fifth year. He was born in Macon. The family soon afterward took up its residence in Columbus, and from there the four boys—W. S. Chisholm, Dr. T. B. Chisholm, W. W. Chisholm, and J. B. Chisholm-all went to Savannah in 1848. The first three remained there but Mr. J. B. Chisholm removed to Thomasville, where he is now an influential citizen.

Judge Chisholm graduated from the State University in Athens, the second in a class of e than usual ability. He then studied with Law & Bartow, of Savannah, and was admitted to the Savannah bar. He first formed a partnership with Julian Hartridge, continued until the death of the latter. He then formed another partnership with R. G. Erwin, in which F. G. duBignon became a member a year

A DELIGHTFUL ENTERTAINMENT.

Miss Stocker's Recital at Mrs. Bell's Las Night. The recital given last night by Miss Corinne

Stocker at the home of Mrs. W. S. Bell, of 180 Capitol avenue, was a delightful affair in every respect, and the critical audience present testified its approval of the various selections by their frequent and hearty encores. Miss Stocker's recitations included "The Bird's Christmas Cariol," Miss Proctor's "The Message, the "Charot Race from Ben Hur," "Money Musk" and others. It is impossible in the short space allotted to a newspaper notice to do anything like justice to the splendid abilities of this talented young woman. To say that she is an elecutionist of rare power, that she renders delishe is the true artist in everything she does to say all that doesn't seem strong enough. She is the true artist, she is very talented, and she makes good use of her talents. So far better than the elocutionists and readers are heard on the stage and off of it, that the expressions used in describing their work seem weak when applied to Miss Stocker. That was the verdict of the people who were so fortunate as to hear her last night, and that is the truth.

There were other features of the evening's entertainment. Miss Hahr's instrumental solos were received with the applause they deserved, and won for the fair pianist new laurels.

The entertainment was a big success. The proceeds, which amounted to about $100, are for the ceeds, which amounted to about benefit of the Christian church.

THE PRACTICAL WAY Which the Y. M. C. A. is Doing Go An Apt Illustration.

A story, showing the way the Young Men's Christian Association is continually doing good, has come to light: Several weeks ago there arrived in this city a young man of pleasing address. He came from a town in one of the middle states, and he was under indictment for the forgery of a note for For the sake of the story of his past life, and its consequent moral, it will answer the purpose to call him Robinson. For the past three and one-half years Robinson has been a letter carrier in the town from whence he came, and up to the time of his trouble had borne an unblemished reputation. But he got into had company and commenced to drink, gamble and run with fast women.

Gradually debts began to accumulate and day by day he got deeper in the mire. Finally, he made a desperate move and forged the name of his new employer (he had left the mail service) for $200, and with that sum straightened out his obligations. Then he abandoned his lewd companions, gations. Then he abandoned his lewd companions, resolved to make good for the forgery.

But remorse so preyed upon his conscience that he confessed his act to his employer. He received assurances from that gentleman that no exposure or prosecution would follow, but that he would be given plenty of time in which to repay the amount.

But fate had decreed against Robinson. The man to whom the note had been tendered in some way discovered that the signature was not genuine, and he at once caused the arrest of the offender.

Poor Robinson was brought before a magistrate, who fixed his bond at $300.

Robinson's mother furnished the amount, and he at once left the city and came to Atlanta.

Now the grand purpose and usefulness of the Young Men's Christian Association becomes apteaching this city without friends, without ney, and charged with a grave crime, the out-t at once applied to the local association for cast at once applied to the local assistance.

The officers of the association are always on the lookout for just such instances where a young man can be taken by the hand and guided from evil ways into the path of rectitude. Accordingly they at once took him in charge and obtained for him a situation in one of the large wholesale establishments, where he has since served his employers diligently and faithfully.

Robinson made a clean breast of his whole past history to his employers and the association officers, and his simple, straightforward recital made a deep impression upon them.

made a deep impression upon them.

Letters of inquiry have been sent to certain prominent men whom Robinson mentions as references, and their replies confirm everthing he has stated. They also add that there is nothing bad or vicious about Robinson, but that he is rather the simple victim of his own folly than an out-and-out forcer.

and-out forger.

The Young Men's Christian Association is a practical philanthropical Christian organization, and it has reclaimed thousands of young men who but for its beneficent interference, would have been treated as outcasts and hurried to the criminal's ell or the gallows.

And the Atlanta branch keeps on doing good.

A DAY IN ATLANTA.

The courtmartial over at the adjutant general's office brings up the subject of courts martial in general and the difference between them is-peace courts and those held in times of war. A case in point was related yesterday by a gen-leman who lives near the spot where the decision of the court was carried out.

During a charge in one of the bloody battles around Atlanta, in 1864, fifteen men disobeyed orders and refused to enter the action. They were tried by courtmartial, and General manding officer, presided John B. Hood, com They were sentenced to be shot, which sentence was immediately executed, and fifteen confeder-ate soldiers perished ignomoniously by the hands

The statement in yesterday's Constitution that this is the first courtmartial held in many years was a mistake. Within the past year there have been two cases The first was that of a private in the Brunswick Rides. He was with his company at the Augusta encampment and was guilty of some act which brought upon him a sentence from his captain, which was to carry wood, as a punishment for the offense. He grew angry and cursed for the offense. He grew angry and cursed the captain and conducted himself in such a manner that he was reported to the higher officers and a courtmartial ordered.

The sentence was dismissal from the service, which decision has only recently been affirmed.

The other case is that of a negro captain in DeVaux's Savannah Battalion. The charge against him was conduct unbecoming an officer, and the specification was a plain case of stealing.

He was suspended for six months, and the case is still under consideration by the higher officers.

Colonel John S. Candler occupies a most peculiar position in the present courtmartial.

He is by appointment judge advocate general of the volunteer military of Georgia. In this capacity the decisions of all courts martial are sent up to him for review and affirmation. to hin for review and affirmation.

On the other hand, he is judge advocate of the present courtmartial, and in that capacity is prosecuting attorney for the state in these cases.

So, it follows that after presenting the cases to the court their decision is sent up to the adjutant general, and from him passed back to Colonel Candler as judge advocate general. And en banc any point at issue goes from him to the court and back to himself again for final settlement.
But his legal skill and familiarity with military law enabled him to present the case in its proper light and to settle all points of law with promptitude and dispatch.

Why, it has been asked, is the term "courtmartial" used in connection with trials for failure to perform road duty?

An interesting explanation is furnished by an "Because," he says, "previous to the war a man might take his choice between military duty and road duty, and the road overseer was called a road cuty, and the road overseer was called a 'captain.' When he ordered his men out, in his district, to work the public roads, and they re-fused, or disobeyed orders after they were set to work, they became subject to 'courtmartial.'"

A remnant of this old order of things still exists, and courts martial still occur in the rural districts.

In his speech tonight, Mr. Powderly said that it was time for the lawyers to step aside and give the farmers a chance, as well as the merchants and laborers. He was speaking only for himself individually, but if it was the general sentiment for all producing, industrial and laboring organizations to stand together in 1892, and to vote together, he would "be there," and would shoulder his gun and go into the hottest of the fight.

Colonel Livingston took the floor in advocacy of this request, and it was promptly acceded to. Subsequently the press representatives passed a formal vote of thanks to Colonel Livingston.

There are in the house, since the present sation began. Among those introduced yesterday were several very important ones.

MR. CALVIN'S BILL.

Mr. Calvin, of Richmond, came to the front with a bill that seeks to create in each county a board equalization of all personal and real property now subject to taxation. Mr. Calvin says:

"The object is not to increase taxation to the individual or corporate taxpayer, but to equalize taxes to that every taxpayer, whether person or body corporate, shall bear his or their full sharenement, in the says it is well known that the man of small means and the man commonly called "well-to-do" means and the man commonly called "well-to-do" give the receiver of tax returns no anxiety. They return their little all with promptness and cheer-felics.

"The man who, as a rule, hesitates most," says in the details of taxation is he whose property runs into the fifty and hundreds of thousands.

"The receiver of tax returns is a creation of the people; he is dependent on them for the votes which carry him into office. He knows that he must observe more or less of policy in the performance of his duties. If he be too searching, semingly too 'rigid, he may array strong insenses a board which will stand between the people and the receiver; their duty will be to familiarize themselves with the situation and equalize taxation as to all property. Without espoinage, without harsh measures, they will wipe our unideace" and place every man and his neighbor in just that relationship to the tax collector that his means authorize."

Now, it is well known that Georgia can obtain all the money she needs on bonds bearing a rate of 3% per cent, which are readily taken at par. Now, you see that upon about $370,000 of these endowment funds the state now pays 1 per cent, or 3½ per cent more than the market in justice calls for. This, you see, sa indirect appropriation of about $12,250 each part to the university, yet this amount does not sem to lesson the demands upon the state for an-mal appropriations to the university. purs in the house yesterday, and, as usual, got isome good, solid licks.

The first was to secure passage for his resolution to have all important bills printed before he were brought up for passage. He said that dimembers of the house needed to be, fully informed on the bills before they voted, and he, for onsegarded it a duty that he owed his constituents know what he was doing before he did it. The solution had but little opposition.

Mr. Morton also put in his bill to place Clarke county under the scope of the local option law, an issue that figured largely in the election of the representative from that county. By special legislation for Clarke that county cannot hold an election on prohibition and anti-prohibition and without two-thirds of the voters ask for it through a petition. it through a petition.

mosily agree there is a mistrial. Mr. Williams's bill makes three-fourths of the jury necessary to a wrdict, and he says it ought to pass.

"Why," says he, "it costs Georgia hundreds of monands of dollars per annum trying case over after a mistrial has been decared. As it is now, one biased man on a juy can defeat a suit. In criminal cases, I think theoid common law of England should always persil. A man should be tried by twelve of his pers who know him and who can judge of his neities. But it is not necessary in civil cases. Thy, in continental Europe today the judge tries, a judge and jury, all civil cases. In several states through a majority of the jury is necessary to make a verdict in civil cases, and the rule has wind like a charm. All over the state I have recired information, both from judges and law-ps, and the people favoring this amendment. It. Peabody, of Columbus, read an impaper on this subject before the Georgia as association in Augusta last spring. It is piling in favor everywhere, and I am going to make a big effort to pass it."

A Sinking Fund.

Mr. Huff, of Bibb, chairman of the finance committee, introduced a bill yesterday to create a mixing fund to pay off and retire bonds of the size as they mature (in accordance with article 7, action 14, paragraph 1, of the constitution of 1877) by the levy and collection of a tax therefor. The ax is to be such as to raise for the years 1891 and 182 $100,000, which goes to pay off the valid bonds at they mature. The bill provides that the governor may lend the amount accruing in 1891, provided the rate of interest is not less than 4½ per unit. A Sinking Fund.

The Senate. The Senate.

Another fight on the department of agriculture was inaugurated yesterday in the senate.

The bill is by Senator Vincent, of the forty-first. Its proposition is brief and to the point—to repeal the act of 1874, which established the department, and all acts amendators thereof.

A clean sweep.

The act is to go into affect upon the expiration of the term of the present commissioner of agriculture.

The act is to go into effect upon the expiration of the term of the present commissioner of agriculture.

"There are a number of reasons for the introduction of the bill," said Senator Vincent, "In the first place, the disbursements of the department are greater than the income. In the second place the blessings and benefits of the department are entirely theoretical. The great body of farmers derive no be nefit from the department. Those that do profit by its existence could get more information, and get it cheaper, from any good agricultural paper or magazine. The great alliance organization has aroused the farmers upon the subject of edu cation.

"Then it is said that all the other states have such a department—that state pride demands we should have one. We ought to go slow on that state pride business—don't pay too dearly for it. Some of the most promainent states in the union have no such department; three of which number, if I remember correctly, are New York Missouri and Texas.

"I do not accuse the officials of the department of any misappropriation of funds or any neglect of duty—only contend that it is a useless expenditure of money to foster it. It would be more profitable to appropriate this money to some other purpose; to the common school fund, for instance.

"The agricultural class—the very class the de-other purpose; to the common school fund, for instance.

"The agricultural class—the very class the department is supposed to benefit—is clamoring for its repeal."

"Will your bill pass the senate?"

"Undoubtedly, said Mr. Vincent, "twenty-two men—a majority—have already promised to vote for it, and quite a number I have been unable to see yet, at all. There is no doubt of its passing the senate." THE ELLINGTON BILL.

The Ellington fertilizer bill passed the senate yesterday, practically without opposition.

The bill provides:

yesterday, practically without opposition.

The bill provides:
"That, from and after the passage of this act, it shall be lawful for any purchaser of fertilizers from any owner thereof, or agent of such owner, to require of the person selling, and, at the time of the sale of delivery, to take from each sack of the lot sold a sample of its contents.

"That said samples so taken shall be mixed together and placed in a bottle, jar or such other receptacle as the purchaser may present. It shall then be the duty of such purchaser and seller to deliver said package to the ordinary of the county, who shall label same with the names of the parties, and of the fertilizer.

"That said ordinary shall safely keep said package, allowing neither party access to the same, save as hereinafter provided.

"Sec. 4. Be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That should said purchaser, after having used such fer tilizer upon his crops, have reason to believe, from the yield thereof, that said fertilizer was totally or partially worthless, he shall notify the seller and apply to the ordinary to forward the said samples deposited with him (or a sufficiency thereof to insure a fair analysis) to the state chemist, without stating the names of the parties, the name of the fertilizer or giving its guaranteed analysis, the cost of sending being prevaid by purchaser.

"That it shall be the duty of said state chemist to ranalyze and send a copy of the result to said ordinary.

"That should said analysis show that said fertilizer comes up to the gnaranteed analysis upon That should said analysis show that said fertilizer comes up to the guaranteed analysis upon which it is sold, then the statement, so sent by the state chemist, shall be conclusive evidence against a plea of partial or total failure of consideration. But should said analysis show that such fertilizer does not come up to the guaranteed analysis, then the sale shall be illegal, null and void, and when suit is brought upon any evidence of indebtedness given for such fertilizer, the statement of such chemist, so transmitted to the ordinary, shall be conclusive evidence of the facts, whether such evidence of indebtedness is held by an innocent third party or not.

idence of indebtedness is held by an innocent third party or not.

"That in lieu of the state chemist, should the parties to the contract agree upon some other chemist to make said analysis, all the provisions of this act shall apply to his analysis and report to the ordinary.

"That should the seller refuse to take said samples, when so requested by the purchaser, then, upon proof of the fact, the purchaser shall be entitled to his piec of failure of consideration, and to support the same by proof of the want of effect and benefit of said fertilizer upon his crops, which proof shall be sufficient to authorize the jury to sustain defendant's pied, either in whole or in part, whether said suit is brought by an innocent holder or not."

There was some discussion before a vote was had.
Senator Culver, while favoring the object of the bill, thought it should be amended.

"The bill provides," said he, "that if the fertilizer fails to come up to its advertised analysis, the note shall be void. Now the fertilizer may lack only a little bit of being what it was sold for—may be very nearly as valuable as it was thought to be—and yet if it lacks only 1 per cent the note is void. The seller gets no pay whatever for his guano. He ought to get the real value of the fertilizer, as shown by the analysis. If the fertilizer is worth $49.50, instead of $50, it isn't right to make him lose the whole $50 which the purchaser agreed to pay."

Senator Killington replied:

Senator Ellington replied:

"The very tring that is objected to is the very thing that makes the proposed remedy effective. It is the only one to make the fertilizers sold in this state come up to the guaranteed analysis. It's a common thing for a Georgia dealer to order, say, 500 tons of guano from Baltimore—100 tons up to the standard, and 400 tons a certain per cent off. The lot is shipped, say, to Savannah. The 100 goods tons are inspected, and the tags for those 100 good sacks are put on 100 other sacks of off quality. Then the 100 good sacks are inspected again, and the tags used on another off lot, and so on.

"This bill protects both seller and buyer, and is the fairest effective measure we have been able to devise."

nevise.

Senator Callaway said:

"The bill contains no new principle. Its .principles are already law. The bill simply carries out, effectively I believe, the present law. It ciples are already law. The bill simply cout, effectively I believe, the present law. It ought to pass."

Senator Smith, of the twenty-eighth, spoke in favor of the bill. So did Senator Lame. So did Senator Eason.

Senator Gill sald:

"The bill really don't go far enough. It is said that when the fertilizer is not what it was sold for, the seller ought still to get pay for what the fertilizer is really worth.

"So far from that being true, the farmer ought to have ground for damages. He has lost time and money in trying to cultivate his crops with a bogus cultivator. He sustains an actual damage by the use of it, and the bill ought to entitle him to recover for it.

"But this is the fairest bill we have ever been offered, and I am heartily in favor of it."

Senator Patton said:

"I am strongly in favor of the principle of 'seoual rights to all and special privileges to none. Every other class of merchants is held responsible by the law, that their goods are what they are sold for. I think this class of merchants should be responsible in the same way."

Senator Nunnally sooke in favor of the bill.

by the law, that their goods are what they are sold for. I think this class of merchants should be responsible in the same way."

Senator Nunnally spoke in favor of the bill.

"One troutie," said he, "has been the resacking of the guano left over from one season to another on the hands of the agent. This deteriorated fertilizer is sold with the tags put on the sacks the year before. This bill will guard the farmers against that practice."

Senator Lanier spoke in favor of the bill.

Senator Culver moved that the bill be recommitted. This motion was lost.

The bill was then passed, 34 to 1.

SENATOR TODD'S BILLS.

Senator Todd's bill goes to substantiate his favorite expression that he don't believe in "whipping the devil around the stump."

Some general bills and more local bills come up every legislature, intended to protect the farmer against having his cocton stolen.

The most sweeping measure of this kind that could well be devised was introduced yesterday by Senator Todd. It is "to prevent the sale of cetton, in the seed or limit, without the consent of the owner of the land upon which the cotton is raised." It is a misclemeanor to buy, as well as to sell, without this written consent.

Senator Todd introduced another bill at the same time to prevent the combination of express or insurance comparties made to defeat or lessen competition.

WAGES EXEMIT FROM GARNISHMENT.

Senator Johnson, of the thirty-ninth, intro-duced an important bill yesterday. It is a code amendment, section 3554, to make only one-half of the daily, weekly or monthly wages of journey-men, mechanics and day laborers exempt from garnishment. THE ZACHEY RESOLUTION. The Exernity answer than the subcommittee of the senate finance committee, appointed to consult with Governor Northen in reference to the appointment of subcommittee to the appointment of subcommittees. commission to confer with the lessees about the betterments claim, called upon the governor yes-terday forenoon and discussed the matter at some length.

They then reported back to the finance committee, favoring the appointment of finance committee, favoring the appointment of such a commission.

The finance committee, in turn, have agreed to make a favorable report to the senate. They will make the slight amendment that the appointment of the commissioners, made by the governor, be confirmed by the senate.

The Twitty bill was taken up again by the senate agricultural committee yesterday.

One amendment was adopted, and then the bill was reported favorably.

That amendment was made by the author of the bill, in lieu of all the amendments.

That leaves the bill exactly as it is for amounts not exceeding $100. For amounts exceeding $100, but not more than $500, 5 per cent attorney's fees is allowed; and for amounts over $500, 2½ per cent. But in no case—no matter what the amount may be—shall am obligation to pay attorney's fees, in addition to the interest specified, be binding unless a judgment is rendered.

Legislative Gossip.

Nearly everybody went to Rome to hear Gaz. Hartridge last night on the "Rise and Fall Off of the Alliance."

The vacancy made by the resignation of Mr. Dan W. Rountree as solicitor general of the southern circuit, will be filled by the election of a new man next Monday. Mr. John R. Slater is already circulating among the legislators, a candidate for the place. It is probable that Mr. Hopkins, of Thomasville, will also be a candidate. and—well, the woods may be full of them by Monday.

Mr. Atkinson's bill, putting the regulation of charges of express companies, telegraph companies and sleeping car companies under the jurisdiction of the railroad commission of Georgia, will come up before the general judiciary committee on Monday afternoon. It will then be placed in the hands of a subcommittee.

Mr. Bush, of Müller, made a leugthy speech in opposition to the bill, saying that it was the duty of every member of the house to keep posted upon the proceedings of the session. The vote was taken and resulted in the defeat of Mr. Martin, of Fulton, introduced in the acuse of representatives yesterday a bill of peculiar interest.

It is a bill looking to the securing of the original minutes or records of the secession convention of Georgia, both as held at Mil-ledgeville and Savannah. The complete minutes of these memorable conventions are in the possession of Mrs. Mary A. Steele, who resides at 29 Calhoun street. Her husband, who was Major John H. Major Steele's name is a familiar one in Georgia politics. He has served out many a term of public service at the capital of Georgia in former days, both in a clerical and legisla-

He was private secretary for Governor George W. Crawford as long as the former Mr. Martin's bill provides for securing these minutes and placing them in the state archives.

TO SEPARATE THE OFFICES. Judge Kontz Says that Recorder and Auditor Should Be Two.

Hon. E. C. Kontz, auditor and recorder, want the two offices separated. And in a lengthy paper, addressed to the mayor and general council, he assigns some mighty good and general council, he assigns some mighty good reasons for the request.

"Since March last," says the judge, "when my official term began, I have as recorder tried about 9,000 cases—in nine months exceeding the whole number for last year—a daily average of about forty. The total amount of fines imposed during this year is already considerbly greater than last year.

forty. The total amount of fines imposed during this year is already considerbly greater than last year.

"This is not due," said the judge, continuing, "to an increasing percentage of crime, but to the greatly increased size and efficiency of the police force, the growth of population and enlarged territory. Then, by the last legislature matters were placed in the jurisdiction of this court which were never here before. Besides this, all questions of pardon and commutation are addressed to the recorder, while the number of personal appeals to which the recorder is compelled to listen is very great! The ordinances now in force require nine sessions of court every week, one every afternoon except Sunday and one three morning of the week. When I deem it necessary I am authorized to hold other morning sessions, and this I am frequently compelled to do. "It is impossible for the recorder to longer actively discharge the duties of auditor unless those duties be made nominal. I am of the opinion, too, that the recorder should be relieved of all clerical work. He is required to make a daily report to the comptroller. I desire that this be made the duty of the clerk, whom I think should be, though a deputy, a sworn officer. From what I have shown you, you will readily appreciate that only by despatch of business can the city longer escape the necessity of two courts.

"For these reasons, I suggest that the office of recorder be relieved of the duties of the auditor; and that the daily report of the recorder's court and all cierical work thereof be done by a clerk."

The paper will be transmitted to the police committee of the general council and will be given a careful consideration.

THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET, The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, December 5.—The stock market today continued feverish and weak, with no change in its temper, until toward the close, when a moderate rally was had which brought a few stocks up to and above the level of last night's final figures. Union Pacifile was very weak in early trading, and the selling of an order of at least 10,000 shares is believed to have been executed, but is a decline of 1½ per cent. Buying orders appeared and the market was let alone by bears for the remainder of the day. Liquidation of Northern Pacific preferred, next attracted the attention of the bears, and that stock was sold down tention of the bears, and that stock was sold down over 2 per cent before the movement was checked. Louisville and Nashville was the next to suf-fer, but traders after that took the buying side, and being inclined to look for a raily, prices showed a material improvement in the last two hours. The market closed firm under this stimu-

GALVESTON, December 5—Cotton firm; midwas weak all the morning, but strengthened somewhat late in the day and closed at quite an improvement over the lowest, atthough in most instances at a decline from yesterday's closing. It is almost impossible to account for this state of affairs, ex-cept on the ground of a generally uneasy feeling which an unexplained weakness of the market abways brings forth, especially in times when finan-cial surprises are the rule instead of the excep-tion. London has been a heavy buyer in this market, so much so that we learn of a prominent market, so much so that we learn of a prominen banking house who have been compelled to aban don arbitrage business, owing to their inability to sell sufficient exchange to offset their purchases The exchange market is so weak that gold shipments from the other side are a certainty unless the bank rate there should be advanced. Money has ruled easy on the call all day long, and bar-ring the one disturbing feature that time downs are impossible to get, we see nothing to cause unare impossible to get, we see nothing to cause un-easiness. The situation in railroad circles is decidedly improving, for, while nothing definite has yet been accomplished except the advance in rates inplished except the advance in rates yet been accomplished except the advance in rates which was agreed upon early in the week, it must be patent to the rankest outsider that railroad presidents, managers and directors are fully awake to the imperative exigencies of the situation, and that something favorable must result from all this critical situation.

unable to discount their paper, but to such croakers, we answer that we have yet to see the failure of the first house which could prove its solvency beyond doubt. All such will, we think, be able to secure accommodation, and the sooner the rotten ones fail, the more safe the situation will become. As to the future of the stock market, we venture to predict a good rally for the moment. The narket is oversold; traders have been increasing market is oversold; traders have been increasing their short lines today in anticipation of a bad bank statement tomorrow, and there has been some good absorbing orders in the market today. We do not venture to predict that we have seen our lowest liprices—that will depend altogether upon railroad developments, but we see no reason to sell good things on the financial situation alone. Why Levy & Co. called for gold but the Bank Kuhn, Loeb & Co. cabled for gold but the Bank of England refuses to give it out.

ing, but the average of quotations at the close of that market was about 2 points over yesterday. Spot sales were 12,000 bales at an advance of 1-16d. This market opened at an advance of about 3g6 points, but the advance was checked as soon as it became apparent that the interior movement would be heavy, and when it was evident that the total movement would be heavy, and when it was evident that the total movement would increase 30,000 bales, a selling movement set in, the force of which led to a weak closing at a net decline of about 10 points for the day. The accumulation at those towns included in our exchange statement is now 878,000 bales, as against 252,000 bales last year, and it remains to be seen how much larger it can become under the existing financial conditions. Foreign exchange has still further declined today, and the market is very much demoralized, doubtless seriously interfering with the movement of cotton for export and leading to increased shipments of cotton to this market. In fact this business is limited now only by the ability of consigners to get advances against such shipments.

By Private Wire to Youngblood & Hasa. rolled around within 1c per bushel fluctuation. Although the range was narrow, the movement was lively, and the room traders were put on their was lively, and the room traders were put on their mettle in following the gyrations on the price of wheat. It jumped up and down several times during the session, but within the range previously stated. On the whole, the feeling is steady. No new feature has asserted itself. Foreign markets still preserve a firm front, and as long as the consumptive demand shows no signs of letting up, would expect to see present prices fully maintained. Carriers of cash stuff find it no easy matter to find bankers with liberal ideas, as of tore. As a consequence, May ontion in wheat of yore. As a consequence, May option in wheat and provisions is quoted at a higher premium than has been noticed for a number of years past. Corn and oats are in good demand—small stocks.

etc., and the same trouble is noticed there.

The provision market is in a very unhealthy condition. Large stocks, insurance agents and money lenders are pressing on the market so hard that it is surprising that prices hold up as well as the description. LAMSON BROS. & CO. The Petroleum Market.

NEW YORK, December 5—In our letter of yesterday we advised sales with the prospect of some yielding good returns, hardly believing that the upward turn in the market could last much longer. The change in the sentiment, however, has taken place even more rapidly than we anticipated. Follwing an advance of 3-64 in Liverpoot this morning our market here opened steady at 3-points higher. There was, however, less disposition on the part of shorts to cover. Not long after the opening Liverpool began to weaken, and Lizzie Thomas, a young woman living on Elliott street at the corner of Rhodes, attempted to commit suicide yesterday morning about 2 o'clock. She shot herself in the breast with a 38-caliber Smith & Wesson pistol, the ball narrowly missing the heart.

the heart.

The course of the bullet was upward. It came out of the side of the chest and struck the woman's arm, breaking it very badly. An ugly flesh wound was inflicted on the woman's breast, but further than this and the breaking of breast, out officer than this and the breaking of her arm, no dangerous wound was sustained. The woman refuses to give any cause for her act, but it was understood that it was the result of a quarrel with her lover. She has attempted suicide several times before AT THE THEATER.

In "A Still Alarm," Mr. Joseph Arthur has touched upon a phase of life of today in which we are all interested—the life of hardihood and daring of the firemen—and his treatment of the theme furnishes the groundwork for a live and taking melodrama. Outside of this feature, "A Still Alarm" does not differ greatly from other plays of its class.

taking melodrama. Outside of this feature, "A Still Alarm" does not differ greatly from other plays of its class.

The great scene of the play comes in the third act—the still alarm. Here is presented a perfectly faithful picture of the inside of an engine house, the sleeping rooms above, the engine and stalls, the fire alarm wires and registers, the sliding poles from the sleeping rooms to the floor below—everything true to life.

The villain cuts the wires and the still alarm comes over the telephone. The gong taps, the horses rush out, the men come tumbling down the hanging harness drop to the horses' backs and are clasped, the fires are started, and in just seven seconds from the receipt of the alarm the machine goes rushing out at a rate that Cap Joyner's men would not be ashamed of.

There are other good scenes, and the dialogue contains same bright passages.

Mr. Harry Lacy is the stat. In the "straight" business he shows the effect of long connection with melodrama, but in the engine house scene he is true to the life. He received many marks of approval from the audience. Mrs. Sol Smith was excellent in the role of the mother. The Doc Wilbur of Mr. Wilkes, and Jo Jones of M. J. Gallagher were two populur personages, for the roles were in excellent hands. The cast as a whole is sufficiently strong to give the play a faithful interpretation, and the big audience last night seemed well pleased.

"The Still Alarm" will be repeated at matinee and night performances.

New York December 5.—Futures opened at three to four points' advance, closing at four to seven points' decline from yesterday's closing prices and steady. The slaughter of the bulls of yesterday and the day before was the business of the day, and it was pursued with great earnest ness and success.

The opening report from Liverpool was decidedly better, and to this the early advance must be attributed. Then there was some attempt to realize profits. It was no sooner begun than Liverpool reported a duil closing and the interior movement began to have large figures.

Prices gave way rapidly, and the early advance soon lost.

MYERS PLEADS GUILTY,

AND THE COURT MARTIAL IS AD-JOURNED FOR THE PRESENT.

But It Is Only Adjourned Subject to the Call of the Presiding Officer, Colonel C. M. Wiley-Proceedings Yesterday.

Myers is guilty.

In letter, but possibly not in spirit.

He pleaded guilty yesterday, before the coart martial, of trying to procure a programme for the interstate drill.

But he explained that when he violated the military law he had no idea of so doing, but considered himself as a private citizen and not a soldier at the time the offense was com-

The Court Reassembles. The court met at le o'clock yesterday morning, and all the members answered to their names.

Lieutenant Colonel Jones, of the Ninth Battalion, was present as a spectator, and Mr. Driscoll acted as clerk.

On motion the case of Captain Sneed was re-opened on the plea of introducing new evidence. Mr. J. S. Plunkett and Mr. J. M. Stevens, of the Western Union, were sworn as to the identity of Western Union, were sworn as to the identity of the telegrams sent to and received from Auburn, Ala., which were printed yesterday. Their statements were about as those of Mr. Witt published yesterday. A motion to rule out Mr. Plunkett's testimony was overruled.

Mr. Stevens testified that several members of the Gate City Guard complained to him that the agents of the Auburn office had been guilty of divulging the contents of the messages sent and received through that office, Lieutenant Roberts was one of those who went to inquire into the matter. Sneed was in the party, but Mr. Stevens had no recollection of Captain Sneed complaining.

had no reconcertain of capital the complaint, as the charge is a "capital" punishment with the telegraph company, and the members of the Guard afterwards called to see what had been the result of his investigations. No new evidence was developed. Captain Sneed stated that he simply went to see about the Auburn messages after the matter began to be stirred. He reiterated that he had no knowledge of the telegrams.

Private Myers Pleads Guilty.

Private Myers Pleads Guilty.

At the close of Captain Sneed's trial, the court martial re-organized for the trial of Private B. P. martial re-organized for the trial of Private B. P. Myers. All the formalities were repeated.

"What have you to answer to the charge?" asked Judge Advocate Candler, as he read the formal paper.

"Guilty!" replied Private Myers.

Then after a pause he continued in explanation, that so far as trying to obtain a programme of the drill, he was guilty, but he had no idea at the time that he was violating any military rule or ordinance.

He asked that the court be as lenient with him as possible in their judgment and under the cir-cumstances of the case. He asked to be relieved from attendance on the court, on account of busi-ness, which was granted, and the court retired for consultation as to further procedure.

Lieutenant Roberts. Again were the lengthy formulities of reorgan-izing the court gone through with for the trial of Lieutenant C. M. Roberts.

Messrs. J. H. Lumpkin and T. J. Ripley were retained as counsel for the defense.

The testimony against Lientenant Roberts was the same as that brought out on the trial of Captain Sneed. Mr. Rice, the printer, knew of no efforts on Roberts's part, neither did Durkey, the negro servant of Lieutenant McDonald. The telegram sent to Roberts, at Auburn, was the principal point made against him. Tried in His Absence.

Tried in His Absence.

After a short recess the court was reorganized for the trial of Private J. Harry Spillman.

A letter was received from Private Spillman, delivered through Lieutenant Gilbert, in which he stated that important business necessitated his being in New York, and that he was informed that the trial could go on the same as if he were present, and he desired that it should be done. Captain O. T. Kenan and Captain Ed Young en-tered objections to trying him in his absence. Nevertheless, the trial was begun, and a plea of not guilty was entered in behalf of the defendant to the charge of conduct unbecoming a soldier in trying to secure the programme of the interstate drill. stated that important business necessitated his drill.

Mr. Rice was examined as to Spillman's presence in Anburn. He met Mr. Spillman, who came to his office saying that he represented a mainfactory in Atlanta and wanted to sell him some goods.

Mr. Spillman did not mention the programme, neither did he mention Mr. Myers. Witness afterwards saw Mr. Spillman and Ben Durkey on the street together.

wards saw Mr. Spillman and Ben Durkey on the street together.

Ben Durkey retold his story of yesterday of a stranger offering him $10 for a programme on a Saturday evening.

The court then announced that each and every party interested would be given due and timely notice of further proceedings, and the court was declared closed.

It will take several days to write out the notes declared closed.

It will take several days to write out the notes and then some time for the review by the board.

Even after that the verdict of the court must go through the hands of the adjutant general, the judge advocate general and then to the governor before it is affirmed. It will be several weeks be fore the decision is made public.

Tore the decision is made public.

What Are the Penalties?
In case of conviction what are the penalties?
This question has been frequently asked during the trial. There are two charges, the first being conduct unbecoming an officer, and the second disobedience, against Captain Sneed.

In case he is convicted of the first offense he would be liable to suspension, reduction to the ranks, expulsion from the service, or under certain circumstances, a fine not exceeding $100.

For the second offense, which is by far the graver of the two—disobedience or insubordination—the same penalties may be imposed. Only the first charge was preferred against Licutenant Roberts.

The privates, Myerr and Snillman, wave charged.

Roberts.

The privates, Myers and Spillman, were charged with conduct unbecoming a soldier, and the penalty may be suspension, expulsion or a fine, as with the officers.

In time of war these offenses would be far graver, and under certain circumstances the second charge might entail even the death penalty. penalty.

Outside Opinions. It is the general opinion of outsiders that Cap-tain Sneed has been exonerated by the testimony, as well as his own statement, there being nothing in either to criminate him in regard to the first charge. He explained his position fully in regard to the second.

charge. He explained his position fully in regard to the second.

Captain Sneed has a great number of friends inside and outside the company who are confident that he will be fully exonerated in the end.

There was no evidence whatever to criminate Lieutenant Roberts, and it is thought that he will also be cleared of any imputation whatever in regard to the charge preferred against him.

Private Myers came out openly and candidly and confessed his share in the attempt to secure a programme, but pleaded that he was not in the least aware that he was committing any offense against the law, supposing that he was only working for his own interest as a private citizen.

Private Spillman did not appear before the court martial, but, although the circumstantial evidence was very pointed, his friends and many others claim that it was never fully proven that he was guilty of the charge preferred.

The matter rests now with the court martial, and the decision will be looked for with a great deal of interest. The court may meet again next week, but it may not meet again until January, being unlimited as to the time of meeting or the hours of its services.

The Voice

Is easily injured—the slightest irritation of the throat or larynx at once affecting its tone, flexibility, or power. All efforts to sing or speak in public, under such condi-tions, become not only painful but danger-ous, and should be strictly avoided until every symptom is removed. To effect a speedy cure no other medicine is equal to

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

The best of anodynes, this preparation rapidly soothes irritation, strengthens the delicate organs of speech, and restores the voice to its tone and power. No singer or public speaker should be without it. Lydia Thompson, the famous actress, certifies: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been of very great service to me. If improves and strengthens the voice, and is always effective for the cure of colds and coughs."

"Upon several occasions I have suffered from colds, causing hoarseness and entire loss of voice. In my profession of an auctioneer any affection of the voice or throat is a serious matter, but at each attack, I have been relieved by a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This remedy, with ordithat I have suffered very little inconvenience. I have also used it in my family, with excellent results, in coughs, colds, &c."—Wm. H. Quartly, Minlaton, Australia.

"In the spring of 1883, at Portsmouth, Va., I was prostrated by a severe attack of typhold pneumonia. My physicians exhausted their remedies, and for one year I was not able to even articulate a word. By the advice of Dr. Shaw I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and to my surprise and great joy in toral, and to my surprise and great joy, in less than one month I could converse easily, in a natural tone of voice. I continued to improve and have become since a well man. I have often recommended the Pectoral, and have never known it to fail."—George R. Lawrence, Valparaiso, Ind. Lawrence, Valparaiso, Ind.

We handle no property except that which we own as a whole or in part, or that which we absolutely control. If you want to deal with principals, call on us. If you have good property for sale, it will pay you to place it in our hands. We are building the electric line to West End and McPherson Barracks, and own or control nearly all the property contiguous to the line that is for sale. We control more good investment property than any house in the city.

We offer 356 acres along the route of the New Belt Line, now being surveyed, between Van Winkle's and the Central railroad. This will pay 200 per cent inside of two years.

20 lots on Pledmont avenue and Myrtle street, north of Ponce de Leon avenue. Choice property. 134 lots in Arlington Heights, on Green's Ferry avenue, between Chestnut and Ashly streets. Capitalists can double their money on above within six months.

32 lots fronting the electric line in the south part of the city.
